ANNUAL LODGE DECORATION

K. of P's, Red Men, Woodmen and Odd Fellows Will Join Hands.

Rev. W. J. Russell to Deliver the Address—Program for the Day.

Tomorrow four of the lodges in this city will join in holding their annual memorial services. The Red Men, Knights of Pythias, Odd Fellows and Modern Woodmen are the lodges to join in the movement. George H. Caldwell is Marshal of the Day. Each lodge has chosen a subordinate officer and each will head his respective division in the parade.

The lodges will form in line promptly at 1:30 o'clock as follows: The Knights of Pythias will form on Morgan street between First and Second; the Woodmen on Morgan, between Second and Third; the Red Men on Second, west of Morgan, and the Odd Fellows will form on Second between Main and Morgan.

The procession will move east on Second street direct to the cemetery, promptly at 2 o'clock, in the following order: Rushville Band, Speaker's Carriage, Decorating Committee, Odd Fellows, Knights of Pythias, Modern Woodmen, Red Men.

The decorating committee will meet directly in front of the postoffice.

At the cemetery the procession will march directly to the speaker's stand, where the band will play two pieces, while the graves are being decorated, after which the following program will be rendered:

Prayer, Rev. J. F. Gillespie.
Address, Rev. W. J. Russell.
Benediction, Rev. J. F. Gillespie.

J. Q. Thomas will preside at the meeting and will introduce Rev. Russell. The services will be held in the south part of the cemetery. The graves will be decorated by the committee, two men being detailed to each section of the cemetery by each lodge.

On the return the band will form at the cemetery gate and the procession will fall in behind in their proper order.

Owing to the fact that last evening's storm has destroyed many flowers in the north part of town, each brother is asked to bring as many as possible.

Cowan, of Indianapolis, gave an informal report of the meeting of the General Assembly held last week at Washington, Iowa.

The next meeting of the Indiana Presbytery will be held at Moorefield, Ind., in September, at which time Rev. McClung will be ordained and installed. Rev. W. P. McGarey of this city, will deliver the charge to the people.

RETIRED IN ORDER

The Fire Interrupts Matinee in Pittsburg Theatre but Panic is Averted.

Pittsburg, June 3.—One of the most exciting and spectacular fires that has visited Pittsburg in recent years broke out in the Avenue theater late yesterday afternoon. Before it was subdued it had completely destroyed the Avenue theater and partly wrecked the Grand opera house adjoining. Fortunately no panic resulted and no lives were lost. The loss will reach $150,000, fully insured. The cause of the fire is believed to be traceable to crossed wires. In the opera house a matinee performance was in progress when the fire broke out. The house was about half filled, but through the prompt and systematic work of the employees the audience was gotten out without the semblance of a panic; indeed, the majority did not know there was a fire until they reached the street. Several women fainted when they came to realize what might have happened.

HORSE SCARES, UPSETS WAGON

Automobile Causes Trouble
Near Circleville Bridge—
No One Hurt.

A horse driven by a young man named Forge to a wagon which formerly belonged to H. A. Kramer, of this city, but now owned by James Mercer, of New Salem, became frightened at an automobile at the south end of the Circleville bridge about 2:30 Friday afternoon and ran off the grade upsetting the wagon and throwing the driver through a thorn bush and against a fence on the west side of the road.

The shafts of the wagon broke and saved the horse from a fall of about fifteen feet. The harness was broken and the driver badly bruised.

SOCIETY NEWS

Mrs. Frank Sparks entertained the Six-Hand Euchre club yesterday afternoon at her home on North Main street. The prize was awarded to Miss Bertha Helms.

Miss Myra Beale entertained about twenty-five young ladies yesterday afternoon in honor of Misses Flossie and Daisy McKee, her guests from Knightstown. The afternoon was made very pleasant by guessing contests. Light refreshments were served. The Misses McKee will remain in the city as the guests of friends until Monday.

The closing event of the third year of the Bliss-Sexton Bowling club, one of the merriest social organizations of the town, was a banquet given last night at the Social Club House, on First street.

Twenty-six were seated at the table which was artistically arranged in rose decorations. The favors were roses, and the place cards were individual score cards showing the average score each one had bowled during the past season.

The game for the evening was Bid Euchre, at which the Blisses were pitted against the Sextons as in the usual game of bowling. The scores were kept with individual score cards and also by large cards hung on the wall to designate the highest players at the close of each hand. The fortunate players were Mrs. Scudder, who received a fork, and Mr. Fred Johnson, a stein for the highest scores. The guest prize was given to Mrs. Wood Campbell.

The out-of-town guests at the affair were: Mr. and Mrs. Wood Campbell, of Cleveland, O.; and Miss Bell, of Lebanon.

At the close of the evening new captains were selected for the next year, Messrs. Will McColegin and Robert Tompkins. The next event of the club is the annual Fourth of July picnic.

A GENERAL DISCUSSION

Tokio is Now Analyzing the Battle of the Sea of Japan.

Cause of Defeat Was Unpreparedness and Lack of Discipline of Russians.

Tokio, June 3.—The cardinal causes of Rojstevsky's defeat have been the subject of general discussion here, one Japanese expert giving the following analysis:

"First an imperfect reconnaissance and incomplete, faulty and misleading intelligence.

"Second, an imperfect battle formation, which indicated that Rojstevsky did not expect to meet Togo off Tsushima.

"Third, the weather, the direction of the wind, and the sunlight were unfavorable to the Russians, Togo having the sun behind him and firing with the wind, while the Russians had the sunlight in their eyes and fired against the wind.

"Fourth, the Russians wasted their ammunition and eventually ran short. It is believed the surrender of Nebogatoff was necessary because his ammunition had been expended.

"Fifth, the marked inferiority of the Russian gunnery."

Russians Were Surprised.

Some experts criticize Rojstevsky for essaying the Tsushima channel. Others uphold him, saying that his only chance lay in going through that channel. The impression prevails that Rojstevsky was totally unaware of the presence of Togo's entire fleet off Tsushima. Many believe that it was necessary for Togo to take a station at a pivotal point from which it would be possible to intercept the Russians entering either Tsushima, Tsugaru or Soya channels. Calculations placed this pivotal point on the west coast near the western entrance of Tsugaru channel. Togo's real whereabouts were known to many Japanese, but the secret was successfully guarded; another example of the willingness and ability of the Japanese to preserve military secrets.

Leaving aside the question of preparedness and superior conditions, the superiority of the Japanese personnel fresh from fifteen months' successful campaigning under all possible conditions, must be taken into consideration. Many ascribe the victory entirely to the superior marksmanship of the Japanese. Togo, realizing that it would probably be necessary to fight in the open sea, gave his crews long training in firing during rough weather with a heavy wind blowing and the ships rolling.

Explodes Cherished Theory.

When the hostile fleets met the superiority of the Japs immediately became evident. The sinking of battleships and armored cruisers by shell fire testified to the deadly accuracy of the Japanese guns and destroys the theory that it is impossible to sink such ships by shell fire.

The attitude of Japanese naval men toward victory is curious. Togo's message to the emperor saying that the victory was the result of the emperor's superhuman influence, strikes the keynote of the navy's attitude. The officers openly say that the marvelous result obtained was impossible by mere human achievement alone.

CHESTY EH?

Connersville Examiner: "The Nebraska Indians refused to play Rushville. Why? Because Rushville was just a 'little too strong.' Why not substitute Rushville for Frankfort, Connersville?"—Rushville Republican.

"Here, here, come out of it." The Indians defeated Frankfort with their first baseman in the box, and Frankfort beat you fellows. Connersville is the only team that has defeated the Indians in forty-one consecutive games. You people haven't even a look-in with either Connersville or the Indians.

"Connersville has not been defeated this year and only two measly unearned runs have been scored against us."

EQUITABLE AFFAIRS

Young Mr. Hyde is Asked to Lose His Controlling Interest.

New York, June 3.—Disputed claims of victory by the conflicting factions in the Equitable Life Assurance society, and an apparent readjustment of interests, marked the meetings of the directors held for the purpose of passing on the report of the committee of seven, of which H. C. Frick is the chairman.

The only positive results of the meeting of which official announcement was made was the rejection of the report of the Frick committee by a large majority, the resignation of Mr. Frick from the board of directors and the passage of resolutions which provide for the creation of the office of chairman of the board with plenary power of all departments; appointing a committee of directors to select a candidate for chairman and report at a meeting of the board to be held on Wednesday next; that the executive committee be reorganized; and requesting that Vice President James H. Hyde divest himself of control of the stock of the Equitable society on satisfactory terms.

TERRIFIC HAIL STORM FRIDAY

Hail Piles Up in the Streets—
Considerable Damage is Done.

A terrific hail storm swept over this city about four o'clock Friday afternoon, doing considerable damage to the trees, gardens and flower beds.

The hail was accompanied by a downpour of rain and heavy winds, but the latter were not of sufficient force to do much damage.

The streets, however, were flooded by the water which flowed over the sidewalks and street crossings.

Strangely the storm did but little damage outside of the city. South and east of town there was no hail and practically no rain. There was no hail, but some rain west of town. In the north, no damage was done except in a strip about a mile and a half wide and extending into the northern part of the county. In this strip the wheat was ruined in many places. It was laid so flat that farmers will hardly be able to cut it. The fruit trees were stripped and gardens ruined.

In the city, most damage was done in that part of town lying north of Seventh street and west of Willow. Here the hail fell so thick and fast that it covered the ground, piled up on the lawns and gutters. It stopped up the down spouts on the houses and not a few ceilings were found later in a leaking condition. One resident on the hill declared that the hail was as large as hickory nuts.

One hundred and fifty panes of glass were broken at Moore's greenhouse and many of the plants in the beds out of doors were ruined. Gardens were beaten by the hail and trees riddled of their leaves and fruit. Under an apple tree in the yard of J. H. Brecheisen, on West Seventh street, three bushels of green apples were picked up. The sidewalks, streets and lawns were covered with leaves and these, together with the hail piled up in the gutters and on the lawns made one feel as though the winter season was on in full blast. Much of the hail had not melted a 7:30 o'clock this morning. Many people made use of it by shoveling it into tubs and it into rain water.

DIPLOMATS TAKE HOPE

President Roosevelt Gives Wise Counsel to Russia's Ruler.

The President Spoke, He Said,
as Friend of Russia No Less Than of Japan.

Washington, June 3.—The president has struck a blow for peace in the far East. In a conference at the White House with Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, the president expressed the earnest hope that Russia would forthwith conclude peace with Japan. Prolongation of the war, he believes, will not result in victory for the Russian arms and can only serve to increase Japan's demands and render more difficult the drafting of a treaty of peace which the czar as well as the mikado can sign. The president spoke, he said, as the friend of Russia no less than of Japan, and on behalf not only of the Washington government, but in the interest of humanity. Until his words have reached Tsarskoe Selo and have been communicated to Emperor Nicholas in the friendly spirit in which they were uttered, their effect cannot be estimated. Soon after reaching his embassy Count Cassini began the preparation of a dispatch to his government. Neither at the White House nor at the Russian embassy could a formal statement regarding the conference be obtained. Throughout the diplomatic corps there is a strong hope that this conference marked the first step toward peace, but the general opinion is that weeks may elapse before even preliminary negotiations can be begun. Diplomats express the hope that Emperor Nicholas will receive the president's words "as the counsel of that government which has for years been Russia's traditional friend and will weigh it accordingly."

The president informed the ambassador that he earnestly hoped for an early peace in the far East and that in expressing this hope he voiced not only his strong personal sentiments and those of his government, but he believed that they were held by all of the powers. His opinion was that it would be a mistake for Russia to continue the war. In addition to the suffering entailed by the naval conflict, he did not believe that Russia has anything to win in prolonging hostilities. What Japan's probable peace terms would be the president was wholly unable to say, but he did not hesitate to express the opinion that, difficult as these conditions might prove, in the light of such a victory as that gained in the Korean straits, they would increase in severity with every day that a state of war continued. Unless Russia has substantial hope of administering a decisive defeat to Japan in this war, the president believed it would inure to the interests of the St. Petersburg government to conclude peace at once. The understanding in diplomatic circles is that even if peace negotiations should be entered upon they would not be conducted by Count Cassini, but by Baron Rosen, his successor who will shortly reach this country.

BASE BALL

Greensburg News: Manager Spinyne has challenged both Connersville and Rushville for a series of games and it is now up to Managers LaRue and Geraghty to show their gameness by accepting the same. All attendance records will be broken when these contests are played. Neither of these teams could show the Reds any turns last season. The Reds already have a stronger aggregation this season than last and is trotting well up in the bunch.

Connersville News: Just think of it—Rushville has the nerve to want to send her bum ball team to this town to play! Really they ought to make a record before lacking the champs.—Manager LaRue is thinking strongly of booking the Rushville club for a game June 18th. They would doubtless prove a star attraction for many of our people are anxious for another opportunity to show them up.

OIL IS THERE; WELL PLUGGED

Lon Masters, in Behalf of Stockholders, Takes up the Note.

News From Franklin County
Continues Very Flattering
—O'Connell in Town.

News from the Franklin county oil fields continue flattering. After finding that fully 200 feet of oil was standing in the well and that it was sill rising, the tools were lowered and he well plugged, pending settlement of the question as to adjustment of differences between John O'Connell on the one hand and the stockholders at large, on the other. Lon Masters, of Laurel, on behalf of the stockholders, has taken up the note held by W. A. Mull, of this city, which fell due on Thursday.

There is a struggle going on among a few parties to get control of 51 per cent. of the outstanding stock, and it is known that $3.00 was offered at the well side on Wednesday for stock that cost 50 cents.

Immense crowds continue to visit the well. Among the throng are many experts from a distance. The opinion expressed by them is that the well, if not shot, would yield as it is, 75 barrels a day, and that if shot, it would yield from 200 to 300 barrels daily.

On Wednesday, in less than an hour, money was subscribed to sink another well as soon as it can possibly be begun. I will probably go down not far from the other, though others are ready to put up money for wells near Laurel, on both sides of the river.

The fever is high and it will not be surprising if many derricks go up and many "strings of tools" are put to work in what is already being known as the Franklin county oil field.

M. J. O'Connell, manager of the Buena Vista company was in the city Friday evening. He is very enthusiastic over the outcome. Mr. O'Connell controls the larger portion of the stock. He says that as soon as the present difficulties are settled, this well will probably be shot and then work will begin on another immediately.

Mr. O'Connell says that the well has been visited by hundreds of people and that every bottle or old can that could be found were pressed into service in order to carry away samples of the oil. The present difficulties in the company, he says, will be amicably adjusted as everything has been found to be all right. A few small stockholders who have not examined the books are still causing trouble it is said, but it is predicted that things will again be in motion in a very short time.

FRANKFORT TOMORROW

Another Crack Team Will Meet
the Locals—Game Called

The strong Frankfort team which has defeated the local bunch twice this year, will come to meet the Rushville club on its home grounds tomorrow. The game will be called at 3:45 owing to the union lodge memorial services. Sullivan will umpire.

The two teams will line up as follows:

Practical Recipes

For the Housewife

COLD MEATS.

Remains of boiled ham, mutton, roast beef, etc., are good "chopped finely with hard boiled eggs, 2 heads lettuce, a bit of onion, and seasoned with mustard, oil, vinegar, and, if needed, more salt. Fix it smoothly in a salad dish, and adorn the edges, with sprigs of parsley or leaves of curled lettuce. Keep by the ice or in a cool place until wanted.

VEAL LEAF.

Two pounds veal, chopped fine; 2 coffee-cups bread crumbs; 2 eggs; 1 even tablespoon of salt and pepper mixed; sage to taste; a little butter; bake about one-hour; slice quite thin. The secret of having it slice off thin without breaking, is pressing it down very firmly in the dish before baking.

FRENCH TOAST.

For dessert: two-thirds of a pint of milk; 1 egg, well beaten; a little salt. Take six slices of bread; dip into the custard (uncooked) 1 by 1; then fry in a little butter till a delicate brown. For sauce, melted sugar with a little cinnamon added. This is very nice, and is a good way to use up stale bread.

OATMEAL GRUEL.

Take 2 ounces of oatmeal and 1½ pints of water. Rub the meal in a basin with the back of a spoon, in a small quantity of water, pouring off the fluid after the coarser particles are settled, but while the milkiness disappears. Next put the washing into a pan, stir until they boil, and a soft, thick mucilage is formed. Sweeten to taste.

BUTTERSCOTCH PIE.

One and one-half cups of dark brown sugar, 2 scant cups of milk, ½ cup of butter. Cook until as thick as molasses; while this cools beat the yolks of four eggs, 2 tablespoons of cream, 4 level tablespoons of flour and 2 teaspoons of vanilla; then pour the syrup into this and return to the stove and stir until it thickens; beat well before pouring it into the baked crusts; take the whites of 4 eggs and 2 tablespoons of sugar beaten light; spread on pies and brown in oven. This makes two pies.

A TIP FOR GOLFERS.

How to Give Old Golf Balls an Even Coat of Paint.
Having got through with more new rubber covered balls than they can contemplate with equanimity, golfers are disposed to begin the season by economizing from old stock, says the Boston Herald. Most golfers in their time have bought a can of golf paint and made an attempt to paint up some old balls which, save for their blackness, looked as if they were still capable of much good service.

Ninety-nine per cent of these golfers, having applied the paint in the customary manner with a paint brush, have finally abandoned the thing in disgust and thrown the balls away. Paint so applied invariably settles and dries in blobs and blotches, with the streak markings of the brush everywhere in evidence, so that for practical purposes the ball is quite useless afterward.

Yet it is one of the easiest things in the world to paint a golf ball when it is done properly. Put as much of the paint as would lie conveniently on the surface of a quarter dollar into the palm of the left hand, and then take the well cleaned ball and lay it on it. Then put the right hand on top of it and roll the ball about in between for some twenty seconds until it has picked up a layer of paint all over and you feel it getting "tacky." Then place it on a piece of glass or other hard surface to dry. It will be found to have a perfectly even coat of paint upon it, with no blotches and no obscurement of the natural marking of the ball.

A second coat is desirable, and the ball should then be kept at least a week before playing with it.

How to Make Cheese Toast.

Grate enough cheese to make one cup, add one-quarter level teaspoon each of salt and mustard, a few grains of cayenne and a rounding teaspoon of butter. Set the bowl over hot water and heat enough to form a smooth paste. Cut fingers of thinly sliced bread, butter them slightly and toast delicately. Spread the cheese mixture over the toast, set in the oven until the cheese melts and serve at once.

How to Choose a Song.

Choose a song that tells a tale if possible. The vocal qualifications of most amateurs are so equal that the singer whose words have some tangible meaning in them, though set to a simple melody, is far more likely to be appreciated than the "moonlit river" type of love ballad. Songs with complicated roulades or long, holding notes are best avoided in the majority of cases. Remember that very popular songs are being sung by more gifted vocalists than yourself on every hand, and you will suffer by comparison. There are plenty of good songs that are but little known, and one of these, even if indifferently rendered, is far more pleasing than latest thing from some popular opera, which everybody has heard. Do not, as a rule, choose a song with a difficult accompaniment. The amateur vocalist is to a very great extent at the mercy of the amateur accompanist, and the latter is often weak in execution and may be the means of spoiling one of your most ambitious efforts.

Brilliant Suggestion.

Magazine Editor—Well, we've had articles by bridge jumpers, actors, regiments, senators, pugilists, doctors, detectives, porch climbers, lawyers, explorers and a lot more. I'm at the end of my string for something new. What would you suggest? Assistant Editor—How would it do to have an article by a professional author?—Pittsburg Post.

His Paying Powers.

Old Gotrox—I don't think much of that young Duddleigh who poses as a parlor ornament around here occasionally. Pretty Daughter—Why, pa, he pays me the loveliest compliments. Old Gotrox—Yes, and that's all he was ever known to pay, so far as I can learn.

English Gardens and Ours.

There is a fundamental difference between the English and the American garden. The Englishman's garden is well high as essential as his house. It is like an extra room to the residence. It is for the family rather than for the public. It therefore works itself into the developing consciousness of children, and garden love becomes as much a part of the person as books and furniture and music do. The American garden is likely to be all in the front yard. It is usually of the look-at-me kind. It is made for the public to see. This may contribute to public spirit and civic betterment, but it loses in originality and vitality.—L. H. Bailey in Garden Magazine.

How to Remove Splinters.

A splinter is a very little thing, but capable of creating a great deal of mischief, discomfort and pain. Every mother of small children should provide herself with a pair of sharp pointed forceps for this emergency. When the splinter is imbedded in the flesh of hand or foot the point of a small pair of scissors—a manicure pair will very well answer—should be inserted directly over and following the path of the splinter and a small incision made. If there be any bleeding staunch it by a little pressure, then open the wound by stretching it a little, and with your forceps pick out the offending object. When the splinter is under the nail cut a little V shaped piece out of the nail, and with the forceps the splinter is easily removed. Protect the cut made with a little collodion or a finger cot.

How to Clean Brass.

Brass so much stained and discolored as to look as black as slate (one sees this in old country churches sometimes where memorial tablets let into the wall have been neglected) can be easily brightened with oxalic acid and camellia leather to look as bright as when new.

How to Make Sausage Meat.

Butchers generally, with an eye to economy, make sausage meat of inferior pork. On this account that which is made in one's own kitchen is preferable. The proportions are: One pound of lean pork and one pound of lean veal chopped very fine, well mixed, and both very fresh. Season with salt, pepper, nutmeg and clove grated, and with cinnamon if liked. A yolk of egg may also be added to a pound of meat. It may also be made with one pound of veal and half a pound or less of pork, or with veal only or pork only, according to taste.

How to Remove the Odor of Onions.
It is worth knowing that the odor of onions may be almost entirely removed from the hands by rubbing them with celery tops. This means will also remove the odor from dishes.

How to Clean Wringers.

To clean wash wringers loosen the screw and wipe the rubbers very dry, then wet a dry rag with kerosene oil, rub all over the rubbers until they are white; slip a clean piece of old muslin between them (the rubbers) and put wringer away. To keep wash bolters from rusting rub your boiler dry and hold over the gas flame or put on the cooking range until perfectly dry. Then with a dry rag saturated with kerosene oil rub it all over (the inside of the kettle) and put away, or better still, hang it up in a dry place.

Special Excursion to the East
Texas Fruit Country
June 20th.

Prominent Horticulturists Going

June 20th, the Cotton Belt Route will run a special train excursion of fruit and truck growers to and through the wonderful East Texas fruit country. The object will be to study conditions of fruit and truck growing in the East Texas country at the height of the harvest season—when they are picking, crating and shipping peaches, plums, tomatoes, potatoes, etc. The big orchards will be visited and every opportunity given to see the results.

Many big growers, officers of the State Horticultural Societies, experiment station experts, editors of farm and fruit papers from Northern States will be with us. SEEING AMERICA.

Wonderful Scenic Trip Across the Rocky Mountains to Oregon Exposition.

In certain respects the excursions to the Lewis and Clark Centennial Exposition, Portland, Oregon, via Pennsylvania Lines, beginning May 23d and continuing through the summer, offer advantages never before presented to Exposition visitors. The trip to the Oregon Exposition, in addition to the attractiveness of the extensive exhibits, includes the journey through the scenic wonderland of the Rocky Mountains and the Cascade Range, and what American has not looked forward from the days of the geography class in school to the time when those great sights should be seen in reality? The time was never so favorable as now. The trip may be made less expensively than ever. For only a slight difference in fare, tourists may extend their trip to San Francisco and Los Angeles. The return trip may be made over a different route, enabling travelers to view much more of the West. For full particulars, fares, dates of special excursions to Portland on account of Conventions, through time and passenger service apply to ticket agents of Pennsylvania Lines.

Low Rate Excursions to Portland,

FOR GOOD FLOUR

To run you until harvest you had better get "INDIANA PRIDE" or "PURITY". We are in a position to furnish farmers with flour and take wheat or same at harvest. Also have arrangements so that the farmers who have wheat in the mill for flour can get flour down town and will not have to drive to the mill. Remember, we give best grade flour in exchange for wheat. We ask a trial from all.
